heeby jeeby comix #1

Heeby Jeeby Comix started with the simple idea to bring back the fun, silliness, and wonder that is sometimes missing from comics these days—especially for kids! The bunch of us got together and launched a blog on Halloween of 2009 with the goal of creating goofy, bizarre, and nonsensical comics for all ages. This issue is our first compilation of that work.

CHRIS HOUGHTON is the artist and co-creator of the comic book series “Reed Gunther.” He also helps design children’s video games and is happy he gets to spend his days drawing goofy pictures. Chris lives in Detroit and is very much in love with his fiancé Cassandra and their dwarf hamster, Papa.

BOB FLYNN was born in Buxton, Maine and raised on a steady diet of cartoons. He currently resides in Boston where he works as an animator and game designer for the children’s media company, FableVision. Driven by an obsession with offbeat cartoons, he keeps busy drawing nonsensical creatures and characters to spin into comics, illustrations, and animations. His illustrations appeared in Nickelodeon Magazine in addition to several SpongeBob Squarepants comics.

DAVID DeGRAND has been dabbling in cartooning ever since being forced to draw a comic strip for a fifth grade art class. He went on to be the cartoonist for his high school newspaper and a multiple award winning illustrator for The Shorthorn, the college newspaper of The University of Texas at Arlington. These days he spends his time drawing various comic strips, designing characters for tv projects, and working on paintings and drawings that he sells at conventions and art shows.

DAN MOYNIHAN is a mild-mannered graphic designer by day, and a crazed doodler by night. His comics appeared in Nickelodeon Magazine until that publication’s untimely demise (it wasn’t his fault). He has also self-published many comic books and is currently working on his first graphic novel. He lives in a sunny apartment, high above a pizza shop in Brookline, Massachusetts, with his wonderful (and also artistic) wife Cathy.
